

THE PEACE AND JUSTICE INSTITUTE PRESENTS

CONTEMPORARY SOCIAL ISSUES: THE ENVIRONMENT

March 26, 2009
St. Charles Pastoral Center
Romeoville, IL
9:00am—3:00pm

From too little water to too much and from monster storms to rising sea levels, climate change is already impacting people across the globe. Learn what the future may hold and how we can work together to create a more sustainable and more peaceful world through personal actions and public advocacy.

“Action on behalf of justice and participation in the transformation of the world fully appear to us as a constitutive dimension of the preaching of the Gospel, or, in other words, of the Church's mission for the redemption of the human race...”

Justice in the World, Synod of Bishops, 1971

DAN MISLEH

Dan Misleh is the executive director of the year-old Catholic Coalition on Climate Change (CCCC). The CCCC seeks to engage the Catholic community in a conversation about a Catholic approach to climate change focusing on the promotion of the common good, the protection of poor people and the exercise of prudence and to more fully implement the U.S. Catholic bishops' 2001 statement on climate change.

Prior to founding the CCCC, 82, Dan was the Director of Diocesan Relations for the Department of Social Development and World Peace at the United States Conference of Catholic Bishops.
